

Marc Ladd named to Law360's 2020 Insurance Editorial Advisory Board

has been named to Law360's 2020 Insurance Editorial Advisory Board. The editorial board will provide feedback on Law360's coverage and expert insight on how best to shape future coverage.

Marc focuses on insurance coverage litigation and counseling for corporate policyholders. He regularly represents large corporate policyholders in federal and state court actions around the country seeking damages, declaratory judgments, and other reliefs against prominent American and European property and casualty insurers, resulting in millions of dollars in insurance recovery. He has extensive experience representing policyholders in various types of insurance coverage disputes, including first and third-party property/casualty; insurance broker malpractice; asbestos and other cancer-related bodily injury; traditional and non-traditional environmental property damage; product liability; D&O, E&O, and professional liability; insurance proceeds for trustees in bankruptcy; mortgage holder claims; business interruption; insurer bad faith and consumer protection; and contractor and subcontractor liability. Marc has conducted all phases of litigation, from coverage analysis and client counseling to pleadings, written discovery and depositions, motion practice, trial, and eventual settlement.
