

Reuters: Robin Cohen joins ranks of women leaving Big Law to forge new firm

By: Jeanna Greene

(Reuters) – When COVID-19 struck and top insurance recovery litigator Robin Cohen found herself logging 14-hour work days from home, she had a revelation.

All the trappings of Big Law, the infrastructure and the fancy offices? It wasn't necessary to do her job – that is, representing policyholder clients that have included Pfizer, Verizon, CBS, American Airlines, Madison Square Garden and The Carlyle Group in litigation against insurers. Over the years Cohen has won more than $5 billion in recoveries and a wide range of industry accolades, including a spot on The National Law Journal's 50 most influential women lawyers in America list.
