

Robin Cohen quoted in Financial Times article, “Insurers vs Small Businesses: A High-Stakes Battle Over Lockdowns”

Robin Cohen was quoted in Financial Times article, “Insurers vs Small Businesses: A High-Stakes Battle Over Lockdowns.” Next month, UK financial regulator will take insurance companies to High Court to decide “whether business interruption policies cover the losses inflicted on businesses by the lockdowns imposed to stop the spread of Covid19.” In the US, “There are over 100 Federal cases now that have been filed throughout the country,” said Robin Cohen. “What is interesting is that the insurance industry has refused to pay any losses, irrespective of whether policies involved contain a [pandemic] exclusion — they have decided on blanket refusal.” Read the full article here.

Related People

Robin Cohen