

Property Damage + Business Interruption

When insurance policyholders suffer physical loss or damage to their premises, or business interruption arising from such loss or damage, our team is here to help. We advocate strongly for our clients to ensure that they receive the compensation they're rightfully owed. As pragmatic and efficient business lawyers first and foremost, we respect the bottom line and partner with injured parties to strategically plan a course of action that rectifies the situation in a way that's the most sensible and commercially viable for them.

We represent clients engaged in a wide-range of business activities, including product manufacturing, healthcare and pharmaceutical, financial services, technology, transportation, and sports and entertainment. Whether an organization has endured relatively small damages or needs to pursue a bet-the-company case to save the business, we adeptly tailor the response to the situation, from working behind-the-scenes to assist our clients with submitting claims for property damage or business interruption to filing lawsuits on their behalf that aggressively pursue their legal rights.

To maximize their recoveries, we help clients navigate the claim's submission and recovery process, which includes putting the appropriate insurance carriers on notice, filing and handling initial claims, collecting data for the appraisal process and proof of loss, pursuing pre-litigation dispute resolutions, handling examinations under oath, and litigating in court if it comes to that. If carriers attempt to engage in rope-a-dope delay tactics, we counter them at every point.

Our Inventive Approach

Cutting-Edge Model. Our team typically provides a comprehensive analysis of our clients' losses and coverage options early on so there are no surprises and the claim is handled in a thoughtful manner. We work directly with our clients and their claims adjusters to ensure that all appropriate losses are accounted for and documented in the way that best maximizes their recovery.
